

Curriculum vitae

András Mércz, PhD

Education:

2005-2012: Pázmány Péter Catholic University, MA in History

2005-2012: Pázmány Péter Catholic University, MA in Arabic studies

2012-2016: Pázmány Péter Catholic University, Doctoral School of Linguistics

Scholarships, study trips abroad:

2007-2008: Damascus, Syria

2009: one month Syriac language course, Qameshli, Syria

2010: one month Syriac language course, Turabdin, Turkey

2011: one semester at the Institut Catholique de Paris – Erasmus

2013: one month study trip, Leiden University Library – Campus Hungary

2014-2018: one month study trip each year, IDEO, Cairo, Egypt

2016: two weeks study trip, Bibliotheca Apostolica Vaticana, Rome, Italy

2018: one week study trip, Österreichisches Staatsarchiv, Vienna, Austria

2018: one week study trip, Cambridge University Library, Cambridge, UK

2019: two weeks study trip, Bayerische Staatsbibliothek, München, Germany

2019: one week study trip, Staatsbibliothek, Berlin, Germany

2022: two weeks research trip, BAV, ACDF, Rome, Italy

Academic affiliation:

2015- Avicenna Institute of Middle-Eastern Studies – researcher

2020- voluntary research assistant at KU Leuven - Research Unit of History of Church and Theology

Languages:

English: full professional working proficiency

French: full professional working proficiency

German: full professional working proficiency

Arabic: full professional working proficiency

Italian, Spanish, Dutch: reading skill

Latin, Ancient Greek, Syriac and Persian: reading skill

January 2023